

PSYCHOLOGICAL OPERATIONS

BECOME A MASTER OF INFLUENCE.

Psychological Operations (PSYOP)

Soldiers use expert communication skills and unconventional tactics to support U.S. Army objectives.

20260327 Daily Journal

I am riding most of this journal as a voice to text transmission. Please excuse all typos and blame them on the stupid computer that I am using to record my thoughts.

Today begins at 1201am.

I have just returned inside of my house from taking out our pups.

During that time we had a loud train horn persistently blowing a very loud train horn for most of the time we were outside.

I am making my first cup of coffee for the day and the vehicle arrives past the front of my home right on cue.

1211am: noting that a vehicle passing by to mark the retrieval of a private legal file that regards a retained client. This is an ongoing and recurring use of the spying-agitating feedback loop.

The consequences of this illegal spying operation have required that I notify my clients that I am the subject of an illegal spying and threat operation and that their file may have been illegally viewed by criminals I side of the government. I also notify them that they must seek new counsel and may have a cause of action against Donald Trump and his team for their inability to retain the attorney of their choice.

1219am: noting a vehicle driving by the front of my house to coincide with the completion of playing a musical piece on keyboard (not connected to a computer or ipad)(while wearing headphones)

Again, we can see that this team is simply attempting to gain attention and forcefully insert themselves into the life of my home for a purpose that is seemingly just to bother, annoy, harass, and shock the conscience.

This is the most outrageous case of intentional infliction of emotional distress caused by official oppression and private nuisance that I have ever seen, heard about, or read about in my years as an attorney and as an avid viewer of crime documentaries and other crime related materials

The people that are operating this spying agitation feedback loop are exhibiting a maniacal need to retain power to control other people's emotions, circumstances, or viewpoints.

Their maniacal desire to control our life and thoughts is directly related to their own ability to continue carrying out this evil plan.

This is a very sad state of affairs that we find ourselves in now in 2026. A group of criminals appear to be cornered inside of their positions and they remain hell bent on carrying on with their plot to cause harm and control others without regard to who or what they harm in the process.

Anybody with any sort of awareness can see that they are nakedly clinging to illegal power, false bravado, and lies to cover their guilt. Yet, they continue to act out a play that is completely contrary to their actual lives and intentions for the public to consume as a fake image.

Their team of criminals is necessarily living a double life of lies They are hiding their actions with a cloak of 'goodness' and are deeply involved in illegal behaviors that they must conceal within that cloak.

We are witnessing the Bible story of the Maccabean brothers that cannot recognize the king. In fact, they are the rebels and are unable to recognize truth and they are desperately clinging to their lies as if they are holding on to the truth of God.

Read the Bible, find the passages about the mistresses, the virgins, the accusations of rape and molestation. And then go back and re-read the Epstein files to see exactly how bad things have become in our modern world.

These people have literally attempted to recreate the worst portions of the old testament using the power of the American government.

They sit inside of government claiming "we are honorable! You are criminals!" while profiting immensely and waging a psychological war against the people that they see as their subjects - subject to their will and powers to control their safety, security, awareness of facts, resources, etc. (All they are is just another brick in the evil king's wall. Right, England?)

Seriously, they have invaded my computer and home life. And they sit in positions of government claiming to be legitimately holding a political office? Give me a break. This is the upside down world of satanic evil.

We are supposed to have already solved these issues here in America, but they have definitely grown secretly and returned mightily as an evil force embedded inside of positions all over the business and political landscapes. Shame on you all.

8am Noting that a vehicle meets me at the front door as I walk to the front of the house to retrieve coffee cup. A frequently occurring opposition effect.

Since vehicle agitations began quickly in the middle of the night and before I even finished making the 8am coffee, I am marking this as an elevated rating of 2/5 and anticipate increased frequency as the day develops.

818am: Writing this statement draws a car to accelerate past our house.

829am The vehicles are streaming past now one after another. I am documenting an increase from 2 to 3/5.

915am: Increases of tension bring increases of vehicle agitations. An ongoing cycle and feedback loop designed to heighten stress. Today is absolutely a day of immediate increase.

I describe this as a retaliatory effect. The spying agitation feedback loop will continue to agitate agitate and increase agitation while their target does not respond. The intention is to agitate the target into a response. Then once the target responds they increase the agitation to increase the level of stress further. I described it as constant agitation and harassment at a baseline level which then is ready to be increased as a retaliation and response to any activity created by their target. We see this as wartime activity right now where drones are flying over there Target countries buzz buzz buzz and then if the target country responds their team can escalate the conflict. This is intentional acts of aggression in order to justify more aggressive Acts. This is intentional aggression in order to create new aggression. This is a psychological war being waged against individual homes against entire countries. This then creates actual conflicts in the world to which these military operations are using as justification to continue their aggressive acts one after another after another because their tactic is constantly escalating aggressions under the threat of ultimate destruction.

The current event references in these notes will likely become outdated because I am currently not monitoring their news. The monitoring of news was another opportunity for these forces to aggressively assert themselves as responses to the stories that I was reading and the news that was appearing. Once again we are experiencing a constant form of rising tension and escalation as feedback and response to any stimulus that the spies can use as justification to raise an increase the agitation levels further. The news is just another form of stimulus response stimulus response shake shake shake shake shake that is being used to move people into the mindsets and behaviors that are the ultimate objectives of the psychological warfare operation that's being waged against our world.

This phenomenon is provable as a military tactic in the psychological warfare psyop operation documents that I have on my computer. These are documents produced by the quote unquote psyop divisions of the United States military that are designed to be used to increase democracy in other countries. But these programs are actively being used to decrease and dissuade the engagement of people into democracy of America. I can prove by my own personal experience that this is happening both in America and in Spain using operatives from within the government that are moving people outside of the government around people's lives to Target them and cause them grief if they attempt to engage in the functions of government.
